

Prof. Dr. Alexander Gelbukh holds MSc (mathematics) degree with honors by the Lomonosov Moscow State University, Russia, and PhD (computer science) degree by the All-Russian Institute for Scientific and Technical Information. He is Research Professor and Head of the Natural Language Processing Laboratory of the Center for Computing Research of the Instituto Politécnico Nacional, Mexico and Invited professor of the National University of Colombia. He has been Invited researcher of Waseda University, Japan, and Distinguished Visiting Professor of Chung-Ang University, Korea. He is a member of the Mexican Academy of Sciences, National Researcher of Mexico (SNI) at excellence level 2. He is a Former President of the Mexican Society for Artificial Intelligence, and past President of the Mexican Association of Natural Language Processing.

His main areas of interest include computational linguistics and artificial intelligence. He is an author or co-author of more than 500 scientific publications, including 8 books, and editor-in-chief or member of editorial board for more than 10 international journals. He is the founder and chair of the CICLing series of international conferences. He was a Chair, Honorary Chair, or Program Committee Chair of more than 40 international conferences. He has been advisor more than 25 PhD students. See details at www.Gelbukh.com.